Bishop Romero also says, "We cannot do everything, and there is a sense of liberation in realizing that. This enables us to do something, and to do it well." I suspect that being God is a pretty big job. I know that being "mother" is also a pretty big job with lots of successes and failures. But that's the beauty of any laid foundation- we build upon, revise it, sometimes repeat the same mistakes but we plant, influence and water this great gift of life. And, don't forget to add plenty of yeast. We do this for ourselves and we provide this to our TEENren and gently coach those around us. Contributed by David Welch on Jun 30, 2008. Does Your Preaching Proclaim Jesus As Lord, Or Simply Savior?.

Funeral Sermons May Be the Greatest Opportunity to Influence.

"There's a lady on board who booked passage to Australia," the doctor explained. "She's looking for her son who disappeared years ago. She's dying and she's asking to see her son. She knows everybody onboard and since you're the only newcomer, would you pretend to be her son?" Peter agreed. After all, his life had now been saved for the fifth time. He followed the doctor below deck and entered into a cabin. There on a small bed lay a frail woman with silvered-hair. She was obviously suffering from a very high fever. Deliriously, she was crying out. "Please God. Let me see my son before I die. I must see my son!" The ship's doctor gently pushed the young man toward the bed. Soon, however, Peter Richley began sobbing. For lying there on that bed was the reason that he couldn't seem to die. Here was the lifeline that had kept him from drowning five times. For lying on that bed was none other than Sarah Richley—who had prayed for ten years to be reconciled to her son,

Peter. The ship's doctor stood in amazement as the young man fell down by the bed and embraced the sick woman. "I'm here mom! I'm here. It's me!" Within days the fever had subsided and his mother awakened to find an answered prayer seated on the edge of her bed. (This story was told by western writer Louis L'Amour in an interview he gave. This story bears out the saying, "truth is stranger than fiction." In researching the Louis L'Amour website there were additional references that bear out this story to be a true story.) Never, never, never underestimate the power of the prayers of a praying mother. A song written years ago, "If I could hear my Mother pray again," is sure to rip the heart of the most brutish man. Prov 31:16. She considereth a field, and buyeth it: with the fruit of her hands she planteth a vineyard. KJV Could it be considered that when a young woman becomes a bride she has dreams of becoming a wife to a God given husband? May we also imagine that she has conceived dreams of raising her TEENren as gifts from God to be adorn with her I. What is the current condition of believers who die before Jesus returns? The clearest thing we can say is that they are "with Christ" and "with the Lord" in heaven. Paul says as much in verses 6-8. We don't have to worry about our loved ones who died in Christ. They have passed into the presence of the Lord Jesus himself. That, I think, is all we can know for certain, but it is enough. The commentaries discuss at length the question of the "intermediate body," but that need not occupy our minds at this point. Paul says clearly that the dead in Christ will rise first when Christ returns (1 Thessalonians 4:13-18). That's the moment when those who die in Christ receive their resurrection bodies.
Between now and then it is enough and more than enough to know that they are "with the Lord" and will be with him forever. In fact, there will be no memory of the painful past that we are going through here on earth. Mom dearly loved the church. There had to be a compelling reason for her to miss a service, even when in her last months she had to come in a wheel chair. She took an active part in the Sunday School, too, and for many years taught a class.

Funeral for a Godly Woman: Mrs. Opal Self Proverbs 31:10-31 Sermon by Rick Crandall Kilpatrick / McClendon Baptist Church - Aug. 10, 2012 *We are going to miss Opal Self. It is always hard to lose someone we love, especially when that someone is someone like Opal. But in the midst of our grief, we can remember Mrs. Opal with joy. And we can have great gratitude for her life. 1. First: We can thank God for Mrs. Opal's devotion to her family. *When it came to Opal, the very first Scripture I thought about was the Godly woman in Proverbs 31. And when we met yesterday, that was the Scripture you mentioned to me. Just a few minutes ago, Opal's sister told me that when we open our Bibles to Proverbs 31, there ought to be a picture of Opal's face. *Opal Self was the epitome of a Proverbs 31 woman. Listen to these verses from that tribute to a good woman. I am sure that they describe your wife, mother, grandmother and friend: 10. Who can find a virtuous woman? For her worth is far above rubies. So go ahead and keep opening your gift. It's worth it. God gave us the gift box to be opened and to be used. And..to be used up. Margaret used her's up. Today it is time for us to give back to the Gift Giver the gift that was given to us. We honor the memory of Dad today, but we do not say Farewell. We have a bond in Jesus Christ that is not affected by the dissolution of our body, nor the passing of this age. More than ever before, we are made aware that this world is not our dwelling place; our spirits feel the tug of another country, "a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God. password. Here's the number one memory I have of Ms. Cindy. A mother's patience is envious to me. She knows what needs to be done and yet it may take many minutes or months more before the TEEN gets it. It's that first step, a referee for bathroom visits whether it's "number one or two," the first properly held fork, the kneeling at the right times during Mass and "that" girlfriend" you're seeing who isn't right for you. A mother is patient, even if she is wrong. She will patiently wait for you to make her wrong, right even if you were truly right. (Only a son can appreciate that sentence.). Believe in God; believe also in me. In my Father's house are many rooms. If it were not so, would I have told you that I go to prepare a place for you? And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and will take you to myself, that where I am you may be also. And you know the way to where I am going." These were the words Jesus told his disciples. Their hearts were troubled. Their hearts were fearful. Jesus was talking to them about his going away, and that was troubling to them. They would not have him around like they were used to these past several years. They were perplexed. What did he mean? I did not have the privilege of knowing Rachel prior to the onset of Alzheimer's. Having only been here for one Rachel's final year of life on earth, I did not have the experience of seeing the example and witness in Rachel that so many of you have shared with me. Though I did not get to know her as you have known her, she has left a legacy in the lives of many who have shared the stories of Rachel's example and witness to God's love. Her love for God was evident even in her latter years. Of late, she would ask who I was a dozen times a visit. When I brought communion one. The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave Awaits alike the inevitable hour The paths of glory lead but to the grave. And, somehow, I sensed that, too, when I looked upon Dad's bright face the last time. Yet we knew that our goodbye was only temporary. There was going to be a reunion someday in the sky in a place no longer strange to our souls a "city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.".
