It is the job of a PR company to let the public know who you are and what you are doing. There is no magic formula, but PR agencies have techniques and methods that have been proven over and over again. They know how to reach the public. They have writers and editors and marketing specialists who know how to spread news in the fastest and safest ways possible. It's fast because they go right for the public heart and it's safe because they protect you at all costs. A good music PR firm will do whatever is necessary to get your name exposed to as many people as possible. While many musicians try to do this on their own, they often fail. It is not their expertise and the job is too overwhelming. It takes a professional to know how to deal with such matters. While it may seem to be expensive to hire someone, you have to consider that you are paying them because they are professionals and they know how to get the job done right. When working with your music PR company, make sure that they understand exactly what type of musician you are and what you hope to accomplish through their company. When dealing with the public, they need to be able to give the most accurate picture of your personality and what you represent to the music industry. You will find that the better they know you, the more helpful they can be to your music career. Their expertise and experience is just what you need to get you on the right path to your success as a musician. Mappin House, Oxford St, Fitzrovia London W1W 8HF. Our focus is getting your music to people with public influence who are dedicated to discovering new hits and sharing new music. With an already buzzing YouTube audience of over 400K+ subscribers, TEEN Travis wanted his Instagram profile to start gaining some of that same traction. While you can get some spill over audience from YouTube, TEEN Travis knew that Instagram ad campaigns could boost his presence on IG even further! He discovered that trying to run Instagram ads yourself vs. having us add our years of experience and expertise to them made a huge difference! His main goal was to achieve new followers who are seriously interested in his journey as an artist. TEEN Travis already had amazing talent but needed to combine his music genius with some marketing expertise to get the best of both worlds. We were able to bring out the heart of his music through paid ads by editing & optimizing his existing videos and properly researching and structuring his ad campaigns.
