Psyche - an Object of Coercion: The Epic Mahabharata. International Journal of English and Education Assessing Training Needs and Capacity Building of Secondary School English Teachers at Aligarh. International Journal of Applied Linguistics & English Literature [IJALEL]. Influence of English as a Powerful instrument of Communication in Thailand. The seeds of the Yemeni civil war lay in the authoritarian government which helps some radical groups to increase the hatred and hostility against the rest of the Yemeni citizens. As Edward Said argues that humanist understanding is now more urgently required than ever before, I attempt to examine the absence of humanism and the blackout of media to the war in Yemen. Intsar Asseri paints a detailed picture of the pain and suffering of the innocent people who are not part of this political conflict. In her " For a Single War " collection of short stories, Asseri brings to light the hypocrite world that deliberately keeps a blind eye on the ongoing civil war and the intervention of Saudi-led coalition in Yemen. She shows out how innocent families have been bombed by the Saudi airstrikes. In this paper, I investigate the humanistic attitude and the absence of world from what is going in Yemen. I question the humanistic ethics that have been shut towards the genocide in Yemen. I critically examine the return of the colonialism in the context of Asseri's " For a Single War " collection. The paper argues the human and social values that Asseri mentions them in her texts.

Abstract Language and communication are considered acquired behaviours that develop through a combination of nature and nurture, genetic predisposition and environmental stimulation. Human beings have different styles while communicating with one other. Style depends on a number of things such as where we are from, how and where we are brought up, our educational background, age, and gender. In recent years, communication styles of men and women have been studied scientifically. Linguists have documented these perceived differences. The primary purpose of these intensive investigations is not to determine which communicative style is best or to motivate others to change completely, but to identify differences for the purpose of understanding and adaptation.
