Most options on the market require surgery or lasers to remove fat. This increases the likelihood of developing tissue damage, bleeding, and bruising. The result is astounding, but these invasive techniques come with a range of drawbacks. CoolSculpting is different. This is the gold standard for non-invasive body contouring. It's both efficient and safe, providing a high patient satisfaction rate. In clinical trials, after one treatment, CoolSculpting decreased subcutaneous fat by up to 25%. Roughly 86% of treatment patients noticed improvements. They reported a 73% satisfaction rate. The procedure relies on cryolipolysis to cool the fat until it reaches a freezing temperature. It targets specific areas of the body like the lower back, belly, thighs, and sides. The freezing breaks down fat cells without damaging the underlying tissue or skin. By issuing controlled cooling, the procedure crystallizes fat cells. These cells eventually die off and are naturally flushed out of the system. Months or weeks after treatment, the remaining cells begin to condense. Therefore, lessening the fat layer.
